Changing Habitats

You have just read and discussed the affects that changing habits can have on certain animals. Answer the questions below based on that information.

1. Choose one of the habitat changes that was bad for the animal. Explain what changed and why it was bad for the animal.

2. Habitat changes are not always negative. Explain a habitat change that led to a benefit for an animal (not all the affects of this certain change were necessarily positive).

3. What is the one common factor in the habitat changes listed on the info pages?

4. On the back of the page choose another organism. Make an information page, similar to the four you have seen. Explain a bit of information about the organism, and what is happening to change its habitat.
